

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Zoom North America to distribute newly launched products in Canada

May 20, 2016 — Zoom Corporation (Japan) has appointed its affiliate Zoom North America as its distributor in Canada, starting with the ARQ Aero RhythmTrak and H4n Pro Handy Recorder.

The new, groundbreaking Zoom ARQ is an all-in-one production and live performance instrument which includes an integrated drum machine, sequencer, synthesizer, looper, and MIDI controller with a built-in accelerometer and wireless Bluetooth® Ring Controller. And the new H4n Pro takes the best features and functions of the popular H4n to the next level.

Omnimedia, who has successfully represented Zoom in Canada for many years, will continue to operate as the sole distributor of Zoom legacy product (product introduced prior to the January 2016 NAMM Show in Anaheim, CA) until July 31, 2016.

Zoom North America has appointed Intellimix Corp. (Saint-Laurent, Quebec) as its partner for fulfillment and service in the Canadian marketplace.

“Zoom is an innovative, dynamic company with products that are unique,” stated Dan Gallagher, Senior Vice President of Sales for Zoom North America. “We look forward to working hand-in-hand with Intellimix Corp. to provide exceptional service to Zoom dealers in Canada.”

Zoom Corporation co-founder and CEO, Masahiro Iijima, stated, “I would like to sincerely thank David Joseph and all of the staff at Omnimedia for their vital contribution in establishing the Zoom brand in Canada, and I look forward to welcoming Canadian dealers to Zoom North America.”
